Jacie's Kids Announces Charity Collaboration with OneHope Wine

April 4, 2022 – Dix Hills, NY – Jacie's Kids, a Long Island based charity focused on raising awareness and support for Long Island children with cancer announces a collaboration with OneHope, a Napa Valley winery built on hope and rooted in purpose to raise money for charity.

The collaboration made possible by partnering with Adele Viola, a local Long Island businessperson and Senior Cause Entrepreneur for the charity, will channel 10% of all wine sales made through the Jacie's Kids/OneHope portal back to the Jacie's Kids charity. An additional 10% of the sale will be dedicated to the OneHope Foundation, which gives to organizations that provide greater access to water, hunger relief, health, and education. To date, OneHope has donated over $8 million to over 25,000 organizations locally and nationally.

Beatrice Haas, President of Jacie's Kids, of the arrangement with Jacie's Kids and Adele from OneHope, "I met Adele at a networking event and we both quickly discovered a way that we could work together to raise money for Jacie's Kids, while giving people a chance to sample great wine. We are thrilled to have another way for people to give to this charity."

A web page on the charity's website will collect a percentage of on-going sales of the wine that will be credited back to the charity to help raise funds for local kids and their families. Also planned for this year are several events later this year that will include Adele and additional opportunities to do tastings of the OneHope wine.
